CE labelling for Peach and AgfaPhoto

Schindellegi, July 2008 – The compatible cartridges with chip for the Epson* T071 and HP* 363 series satisfy the EU Directive on Electromagnetic Compatibility (EMC). The EN55022 and EN55024 standards ensure that products from 3T Supplies AG do not produce electromagnetic interference in their surroundings and are protected against external electronic influences. Extensive tests carried out by Electrosuisse, an independent body for electrical and electronic engineering and information technology, confirmed that the products are entitled to carry the CE mark.

“The CE labelling reflects the high quality standards of 3T Supplies products. We are one of the few companies in the ink sector to have this quality mark,” explains Alfred Wirch, managing director of 3T Supplies AG.

In the test process, a suitable printer was fitted with ink cartridges from 3T Supplies. The printer was then exposed to electromagnetic radiation and electrostatic discharge. The tests also included response to a charge pulse and high-frequency electricity. 3T Supplies cartridges satisfied the values required by law for all the test criteria.

About 3T Supplies AG

3T Supplies AG manufactures alternative brand-name inks and office products for digital imaging applications. The Swiss company develops, produces and markets compatible ink cartridges for the most popular printer manufacturers under the Peach and AgfaPhoto brand names. The product range also includes inkjet photo paper, laminating and binding machines, and shredders.

3T Supplies AG was founded in 1997 by industry experts with wide-ranging expertise in printer ink. The Peach brand and the company of the same name were the brainchild of former Ibico owner Dr. Ueli Wolfensberger, whose company merged with 3T Supplies AG in 2005. Since then Peach has operated as a department and a brand within the company, and is managed by Alfred Wirch. The distribution partner in Germany is soft carrier. The specialist in IT accessories and office supplies lists the full product range of 3T Supplies AG.
